GAME #9
MACALESTER COLLEGE (5-3/3-0 MIAC) at
CONCORDIA COLLEGE (2-6/1-2 MIAC)
January 5, 2008
Memorial Auditorium
Moorhead, Minn.

GAME TIME: 3 p.m.
SERIES: Concordia leads 81-66
SERIES STARTED: 1923
LAST YEAR: Last year Macalester swept Concordia in the home-and-away series. The Scots claimed a 92-70 win in St. Paul on Jan. 3 and then completed the sweep by posting a 84-74 victory in Moorhead on Jan. 31. The first game was won by the outside shooting of the Scots as Concordia allowed 21 3-point field goals and were outscored by 16 points in the decisive second half. The Cobber perimeter defense couldn’t contain the hot outside scoring of the Scots as they made 21 of their 3-point attempts for the game. Macalester shot better from behind the arc (55.3%) than they did from the field (50.0%). Luke Linz had a team-high 27 points and went 11-of-16 from the floor for the game. Concordia head coach Duane Siverson announced he will resign after the end of the season. The announcement came on Dec. 31 and has led to a whirlwind of memories, “are you sure’s” and speculation of what will come next.

THE BOMBSHELL
In case you have been out of the country and are just getting back into circulation, Concordia head coach Duane Siverson announced he will resign after the end of the season. The announcement came on Dec. 31 and has led to a whirlwind of memories, “are you sure’s” and speculation of what will come next.

GETTING UP TO SPEED
Since it has been awhile since Concordia has played a home game, the GD Staff will get fans up to speed on what has happened in the first eight games of the 2007-08 season. In summary, defense good, offense not so much. The Cobbers are ranked third in the MIAC in opponent’s scoring average (allowing only 68.7 ppg) and are dead last in the MIAC in scoring average (60.4 ppg). CC has held opponents to under 70 points in four of the last seven games. Offensively, Concordia is coming off a 47-point outburst against MSU Moorhead – the fewest points scored by a CC team since Feb. 14, 2006 when they scored 44 points in a loss at St. Thomas. They have scored more than 65 points only twice this year and have been held under 60 points in three of the last seven games.

UP NEXT
The Cobbers jump right into the deep end to start the 2008 MIAC season. After today’s game the Cobbers will play at Hamline on Monday before returning home to play games on Wednesday and Saturday. CC will host perennial league power Gustavus on Jan. 9 and then Bethel on Jan. 12.

MACALESTER UPDATE
Macalester Probable Starters
G 13 Abe Woldeslassie, Sr., Richfield
G 14 Brian Ranwick, Sr., Plymouth
F 20 Paul Richie, So., Grand Rapids
F 23 Tom Conboy, Sr., Chanhassen
F 35 Jerry Kraus, So., Buchanan

It’s been a pretty uneventful couple of weeks for the Cobber men’s basketball team since they last played MSU Moorhead on Dec. 19!!! Actually, Concordia will be welcoming the chance to get back on the court and start concentrating on the business of playing ball. CC enters today’s game after losing 69-47 to the Dragons. That came after a 64-55 win over St. Olaf on Dec. 3.

Macalester Probable Starters
G 24 Karl Olson, Fr., Buffalo
G 32 Ryan Johnson, Sr., Duluth
F 04 Darrin Olmscheid, Fr., Buffalo
F 05 Luke Linz, Sr., Watkins
C 44 James Baldwin, So., Hope, N.D.

Another stretch of games. Concordia vs. Bethel on Jan. 9 and then Gustavus on Jan. 12.

The Gameday Staff is hoping that the fans show up and make it a nice game. Macalester has been the surprise team of the MIAC so far this season and enters today's game on a five-game winning streak. The Scots are the only undefeated team left in the MIAC as they are 3-0 with wins over St. Mary’s, St. Thomas and Gustavus. They are coming off a thrilling 83-82 win over Northwestern on Dec. 29.

CLOSE GAME GREATNESS
All five of Macalester’s wins on the season have come by four or fewer points. They have posted two of their three conference wins by identical 72-70 scores. Overall, six of the Scot’s eight games have been decided by five or fewer points. Macalester had only seven of their 25 games last season be determined by five or fewer points.

THE TOMMY AND ABE SHOW
The Scots are led by the senior tandem of Tommy Conboy and Abe Woldeslassie. The two are combining to average 43.6 points per game. That number is over 50.0% of the team’s total offensive production for the season. In the Scot’s 82-78 win at Gustavus, the pair combined to score 67 points. Conboy leads the team in scoring with a 25.5 ppg average. That also leads the MIAC and is eighth in all of DIII. Woldeslassie is second on the team (18.1) and eighth in the MIAC.

Meet The Head Coach – Curt Kietzer

Coach Kietzer is in his 10th season at the helm of the Macalester Men's Basketball team, with the Scots having made tremendous strides during his first 10 years. Employing Kietzer's philosophy of pressure defense and uptempo offense, the team has climbed steadily up the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (MIAC) standings. The 18-9 record in '03-04 was the best at Macalester in two decades and resulted in a second-place MIAC finish. In '04-05 the Scots made it to the conference playoffs for the third time in four years and produced a first team All-West region selection for a second year in a row. Under Coach Kietzer's leadership, the Scots hope to continue their push toward the top of the conference this season. Kietzer was a standout player at the University of St. Thomas, and remains the career scoring average leader there (19.0 ppg.). A two-year All-MIAC and academic all-conference selection, he was also named MIAC Player of the Year in 1988. After graduating with a B.A. in History, Kietzer played professionally in Denmark for two years, where he also served as assistant coach for the Danish Junior National Team. He was the head boys basketball coach at Bemidji High School (Bemidji, Minn.) before coming to Macalester.

2007-08 MACALESTER PREVIEW (Courtesy of the Macalester SID)

Last winter, the Scots ranked in the top-10 in the nation in three-pointers made, led by school record-holder Brad Liddell's 98, and featured three of the top nine point-producers in the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (MIAC). The Scots averaged 75 points a game while ranking 10th in the nation in three-pointers made per game (10.4). Macalester started the same five players in every game during last year's 11-14 campaign and three graduated, including Liddell with his 98 treys, and Jesse Hollander, the league's fourth leading rebounder. However, there is plenty of talent returning. The Scots boast a pair of gems in seniors Tom Conboy (Chanhassen, Minn. / Minnetonka) and Abe Woldeslassie (Richfield, Minn. / St. Thomas Academy), two of the MIAC's top-five scorers last winter as juniors. Conboy, a 6-8 power forward, also ranked fourth in rebounds while Woldeslassie, a quick 5-7 point guard, became the school's first conference assist leader in over 20 years.

Conboy enters his senior campaign with 1,328 career points, within reach of Macalester's all-time mark of 1,707 by former MIAC Player of the Year Ben Van Thorre (2000-04). He averaged 17.4 points and 8.0 rebounds a game last winter. After transferring from neighborhood rival St. Thomas, Woldeslassie averaged 16.2 points and 5.7 assists a game while knocking down 45% of his three-point tries. Conboy registered six double-doubles in 20 conference games and had eight 20-point games in MIAC play. Woldeslassie had three double-doubles in conference action and was just one assist short of achieving two others.

One thing that will be different this year, however, is that Mac won't play any games on campus. After playing in the tiny and ancient 600-season Macalester Gymnasium, a beautiful, new Macalester Athletics & Recreation Center (MARC) is being built on the site of the old facility. This has forced the Scots to play their home games at the nearby College of St. Catherine, something which will be a change not only for Mac but also for their opponents, who have never played there.

Whether is be this year on the road or future seasons in the new building, expect Coach Kietzer and the Scots to be fun to watch. Mac went 11-14 overall last season and just missed making the MIAC post-season playoffs by one game. Coach Curt Kietzer has welcomed in a strong class of recruits, with some expected to play big roles immediately. The Scots also return a pair of trio of sharp-shooting guards in Brian Ranwick (Sr., Plymouth, Minn. / Minnetonka), Nate Assel (Jr., Eagan, Minn. / Rosemount) and Paul Richie (So., Grand Rapids, Minn.). Ranwick came off the bench to nail 37 three-pointers and score 6.1 a night. Jerry Kraus (So., Shenzhen, China / Chaparral - Colo.) is expected to play a key role in the front court. Among the newcomers expected to contribute right away are forward Trey Mullen (Fy., Kildeer, Ill. / Stevenson) and Kyle Hamblett (Fy., Paris, France / American School of Paris). The team's expectations are to get back to the MIAC playoffs.

“This team will be an interesting blend of a few proven veterans and a bunch of unproven youngsters,” comments Coach Kietzer. “What we lack in overall experience we will try to make up for with some degree of grittiness. I like the toughness and resiliency of this group, and am eager to get started and see how we fare.”
